LOGICAL ECZEMA CURE

ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS

After treating eczema for years as a practically incurable blood disease, the medical world is greatly interested in the discovery that it is not a blood disease at all, but is due to a parasite in the skin itself. This parasite is easily destroyed by the external application of a compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., which will quickly kill all eczema germs, while soothing and refreshing the skin.
R. A. Folkerts of Duluth, Minn., tells of the success with D. D. D. Prescription in treating patients:
"There was a man here suffering from eczema for the last fourteen years, and I applied the D. D. D. treatment. I also applied it to a man of West Duluth, Minn., who has been suffering with rheumatism for fourteen years, and eczema in his feet, and the second treatment in both cases cleared the skin almost absolutely. I hope that everyone in the world will be able to learn of your grand remedy. The first application is only a balm, and its soothing effect is beyond expression. I shall never be without it, and I shall use it among my patients altogether."
No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm, etc., you will feel instantly soothed and the itch allayed at once when a few drops of this oil of wintergreen compound is applied. The cures all seem to be permanent.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

At Barre Opera House Thursday, Nov. 12 "The Lion and the Mouse."
A dramatic production of which we have all read owing to the enormous popularity achieved by it in America, will be presented in this city at the opera house on Thursday, November 12.

CAROLYN ROBERTS

Who portrays the character of Shirley Rosemore in "The Lion and the Mouse," at the opera house November 12.

under the direction of Henry B. Harris, who has assembled for its presentation a cast of notable players.
"The Lion and the Mouse" is talked about and written about because it has a theme very pertinent to the times and a subject very close to the heart of every good American. It illustrates the power exercised by the use of enormous wealth in connection with American politics. John D. Rockefeller, financial king of American money, and whose very god is power and wealth, sees fit to have impeded a judge of the supreme court of the United States, because this judge has rendered decisions adverse to the questionable business interests of both Ryder and his coterie of friends. He uses the Senate as a place to put through his business deals. Against this colossal character, Mr. Klein has pitted a fine type of American womanhood in the way of Shirley Rosemore, the daughter of the judge who, under an assumed name, enters Ryder's home, and here, while writing his biography, she fights the money king indirectly and tries to save her father's honor. For the interpretation of the piece here, Mr. Harris will offer a company of selected players.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE

Barre People Have Good Reason for Complete Reliance.

Do you know how—
To find quick relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To surely cure sick kidneys,
Just one way—your neighbors know—

Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.
Here's Barre testimony.
Mrs. Daniel Ryan, 54 West street, Barre, Vt., says: "Time has not changed my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. Several years ago I was hardly able to do my housework on account of kidney trouble. I had severe pains in my back, headaches and terrible attacks of dizziness. My kidneys were in such a weakened condition that any cold I caught settled in them and aggravated the trouble. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and sent my daughter to E. A. Brown's drug store for a box. This remedy proved to be the one I needed and I had not taken it long when the backache ceased and the other symptoms of my trouble gradually disappeared. I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be a splendid remedy for any trouble arising from the kidneys and will never tire of recommending them."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

JINGLES AND JESTS

Idle Wishes.
I wish that I might be as brave as is the hero in the play,
And that I had such strength as his to clear existing wrongs away;
I wish I were as sure as he to triumph over the certain fall;
I wish that I were always near, as he is when sweet Virtue calls;
I wish that I could always win the fair maid, as he always can;
It's such a dismal thing to be a common, unheroic man!
I wish the girl who sits and looks at me sometimes across the aisle
Were like the lady in the play, and that I should dare to smile
She would have sudden faith in me and come and snuggle at my side
And tell me how to thwart the wretch who vows that she shall be his bride;
I wish that, like the heroine, she were the fairest of the fair,
And that on me she might confer the right to keep her in my care.
I wish her father might be rich, as is the father in the play,
And that, although he spurned me now, he might express regret some day;
I wish—but why keep wishing on? I presently must leave the car
To tell all night with all my might where many money grabbers are,
While she that sits across the aisle and glances now and then at me
Is chewing gum and has a face I would not turn around to see.

Sydney Smith's Salad Dressing.
That witty divine, Sydney Smith, wrote the following directions for a salad dressing, which those who have tried prize highly:
Two boiled potatoes strained through a kitchen sieve
Softness and smoothness to the salad give.
Of mustard take a single spoon;
Distrust the condiment that bites too soon.
Yet deem it not, thou man of taste, a fault
To add a double quantity of salt.
Four times the spoon with oil of Lucca crown
And twice with vinegar procured from town.
True taste requires it, and your poet begs
The pounded yellow of two hard boiled eggs.
Let onion's atoms lurk within the bowl
And scarce suspected, animate the whole.
And lastly in the favored compound toss
A magic spoonful of anchovy sauce.
Oh, great and glorious! Oh, herbaceous feast!
'Tis taught the dying anchovy to eat.
Back to the world he'd turn his weary soul
And plunge his fingers in the salad bowl.

Fudge Cake With Whipped Cream.
Beat half a cup of butter to a cream. Gradually beat in one cup of sugar, the beaten yolks of two eggs, three uncles or squares of chocolate melted over hot water, half a cup of molasses, half a cup of sour milk, half a cup of hot water and then two cups and one-half of sifted pastry flour sifted again with one teaspoonful of soda. Bake in

FUDGE CAKE WITH WHIPPED CREAM.
A hot, well buttered muffin pan and serve hot, with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla or powdered cinnamon. The recipe makes about eighteen cakes. Part of it may be baked in a layer and the layer be cut into halves and put together with a little white icing.
